GRAND SUCCESS!

A Splendid Torchlight Procession!

REPUBLICANS OF MARICOPA COUNTY IN LINE!

Ovation to Bean and Long.

Phoenix witnessed last evening the grandest political demonstration that has ever taken place in Maricopa county, and we fully believe the largest gathering of any kind the county has ever seen.

The occasion was, of course, the Republican rally in honor of the head of the ticket in the Territory, the Hon. C. C. Bean, candidate for Delegate to Congress, and the second name on the ticket, Hon. R. L. Long, candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

A meeting of the Republican Club was called for 7 o'clock in the evening, at which time the members of the club, which now numbers about 200 were promptly on hand. A large number of torch lamps were distributed among the members, but it was found that there was scarcely a fourth enough for all who desired to take part in the parade.

At 7:30 the parade formed on Maricopa street, opposite the club room, and headed by the band, marched up Washington street to the Phoenix Hotel where it counter-marched and passed down Washington street to the Bank Exchange, where it was joined by the speakers of the evening.

The procession then continued down the street to the courthouse plaza, where large bonfires had been built and a large number of seats provided.

The band was escorted to the upper veranda while the meeting was called to order and the officers of the club and of the evening, together with the speakers, occupied the lower veranda.

Mr. J. B. Creamer, Chairman of the Republican club, called the assembly to order and nominated Capt. M. H. Caldwell for Chairman of the evening and T. W. Hine as Secretary, which was unanimously voted.

Capt. Caldwell then proceeded to open the regular business of the evening in a most felicitous manner by once introducing the hero of the occasion, Col. C. C. Bean.

Col. Bean then proceeded for more than an hour to make a most happy hand speech, by turns amusing his listeners in the most adroit manner, and again deeply interesting them in the questions of the day concerning the Territory and the nation.

The Colonel is possessed of a vast fund of anecdote and a varied personal experience, which he draws upon with the greatest skill and most happy effect. He is the Republican candidate for Delegate to Congress at the earnest solicitation of his friends. He had not felt that he could afford the necessary expense the candidacy would entail, and if the certificate of election should come to him it would come entirely unthought, as he had scarcely money to pay necessary expenses of the trip.

He believed in Arizona with all his heart; believed in her great mineral and agricultural resources and that he should ultimately raise enough grain in this young empire to feed all the population west of the Rocky mountains, hence he felt the great responsibility that would rest upon him if elected.

Former delegates, as Stevens, Campbell and Oury, had done little for the Territory, because they were not politically in accord with the administration, and if the speaker believed that Cleveland and Hendricks were to be elected, nothing would induce him to be Delegate to Congress. But he didn't believe they were to be elected.

He did not believe that "all's fair in politics." A man should carry his conscience in his bosom in politics as in business. He had been represented as having insulted the Democrats of Mohave county when he spoke there. What he had said was merely this: "If his Democratic friends voted for him they must vote for his Republican candidate." He had trusted there was no effort. He believed, however, that when a man was elected to such an office his constituency was the whole people and not party or a part of a party. He believed a man in such a position should rise above narrow party bounds, and that he was sure, that should be elected, a Democrat could have his ear and his endeavors for any measure of general or personal welfare just as quickly as anyone else.

He then referred to the great political issue of the day, the tariff question, which he handled in a most skillful manner, pointing out its great benefits and the prosperity of the country under a protective system, and referring to the fact that in this country the laborer receives from 40 to 60 per cent. more wages than in any other country on the face of the globe.

He then referred to the Willing alleged land grant, claimed by Revis and George Hurst. Col. Bean had seen that such difficulties were likely to arise long ago, and while making a previous canvass of the Territory, had pointed out the trouble and pledged himself to work for the passage of a law that would unseat such claims and put them into the hands of the United States District Court of the Territory and put them on record. He regarded it as a shame and an outrage that the general government should permit of such things and that the government should determine the validity of these claims and if valid should buy or condemn them and return them to the public domain.

Mr. FRANK HATTON, for a long time Assistant Postmaster General, has received the appointment of Postmaster General and has entered upon the discharge of his duties as such. The permanent appointment was made at once on the return of the President to Washington.

C. C. Bean will without doubt be the next Delegate to Congress.

without one dollar of expense to the settler. [Cheers and great applause.]

Col. Bean then referred to polygamy, saying that he did not propose to sneak around or dodge a single plank of the platform he had accepted. He knew the Mormons to be a quiet and industrious people, and believed that the feature of polygamy, to which some of them adhered, would ultimately correct itself. That it was in direct opposition to the statutes of every State in the Union, and he thought of the Mormons themselves. He thought that time and education would ultimately correct the matter completely.

The importance of railroad communication by means of a north and south road through the Territory was then dwelt upon at considerable length. The speaker had hoped to see the Utah Central road, which had now reached as far south as St. George, cross the Colorado and come through by Ash Fork, Prescott, Phoenix, Tucson and on south to Guaymas. Indeed he had made three several trips at his own expense toward inducing that road to be pushed through. The mining interests of the northern portion of the Territory demanded and could engender a great population and there must be means of getting the food products of our valleys to them and the mining products away. Population is what we need most and when a railroad from north to south running through the heart of the great mining regions of the Territory and tapping the rich agricultural valleys of the Salt River and Gila shall come we shall have that population.

He wished to see a geological survey of the Territory; a liberal appropriation made for the construction of Artesian wells and the reclamation of our desert lands. He promised to work for the establishment of a Territorial University, and closed by a happy allusion to the presence of his presence and expressed the hope that their great influence would be exerted in favor of C. C. Bean.

Throughout the entire address Col. Bean used the most respectful language toward his opponent, Mr. Head, and the party to which Mr. Head belongs. Aside from many prominent Democrats among us who have already expressed their decision to vote for Col. Bean, he made by his respectful and temperate speech many new friends among the Democrats.

Mr. R. L. Long, the candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, was then introduced by Chairman Caldwell, and without going into an elaborate speech clearly and briefly summed up his position on the matter of public schools and their needs, and said his endeavor, if elected, should be to see that sectarianism should not enter schools; that competent teachers should be employed; that school money should not be misappropriated.

Mr. Long was followed by the Republican Glee Club, which sang: "Vote for Bean and Long," an original song by a talented young gentleman of Phoenix. The song was received with great applause and the singers encored, to which they responded by singing: "Up Salt River They Go."

Col. Biglow, of Prescott, was then introduced, and made a brief speech, chiefly alluding to Col. Bean's enterprises in Yavapai county and for the benefit of the Territory at large, such as the building of the Mogollon road into New Mexico, the opening of the Tiger and Peck mines, and other enterprises.

Mr. J. J. Wingard, of Tempe, Republican candidate in the county for Probate Judge, was next introduced and in a few brief and pointed remarks indicated his ideas on the duties and responsibilities of the office for which he was a candidate.

Mr. Wingard proved himself a good speaker and a gentleman who, if elected will enter upon and discharge the duties of his office in a most conscientious manner. He has had experience in the matter of education for a number of years and also some experience in law, which circumstances qualify him for the discharge of the duties of the office for which he is a candidate.

Judge DeForest Porter, on being called upon, made the closing speech of the evening in a few happy remarks and pointed allusions to the issues of the day. He also referred in pleasant terms to the distinguished and qualifying traits of character in the several candidates.

The meeting then closed with three cheers for Bean and Long, given with a will. The club felt in a roused and fighting mood, and banked back to the club rooms, where they disbanded all greatly pleased with the occasion.

The grounds in front of the courthouse was packed by a vast audience, the large number of seats being filled and numbers standing, many Democrats being present and entering heartily into the enthusiasm of the occasion.

The Gazette has finally come down to the point of "intelligence" as a qualification in a candidate for office and endeavors to make a point on some of the Republican candidates, and in the next breath makes the statement that one of the Democratic candidates has said he would investigate the "Gila county law" (etc., etc.). He will hardly investigate that law at present.

Mr. FRANK HATTON, for a long time Assistant Postmaster General, has received the appointment of Postmaster General and has entered upon the discharge of his duties as such. The permanent appointment was made at once on the return of the President to Washington.

C. C. Bean will without doubt be the next Delegate to Congress.

IN MEMORIAM.

DEATH OF MRS. ELIZA NETHERTON.

Mrs. Eliza Netherton, wife of F. W. Netherton, and sister-in-law of Mr. Williamson, died at the residence of Mr. F. W. Netherton, six miles west of the city, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The immediate cause of Mrs. Netherton's death was from serious internal injury received from a fall, a few days since, although she had been in delicate health for several years. Hoping a change of climate would be of benefit to Mrs. Netherton the family were induced to remove from California the past summer. Mrs. Netherton leaves a husband, father, brother, and sister in our community. She was 80 years of age, a devoted wife and daughter, and is spoken of by all who knew her as an exemplary Christian woman and possessed of very interesting traits of character. The funeral services took place from the Baptist church.

We miss thee, dear wife, From thy familiar place; We do not hear thy footsteps near, Nor see thee cheerful face.

We miss thee at the table, From thy wonted seat; And oh! what sorrows pierce our hearts To find thee absent here.

We miss thee kind words spoken; Thy merry laugh and smile; We miss the fond look of thine eye; We miss thee all the while.

Our home is sad without thee; How desolate each heart! We miss thee all the while, What joy would it bring again.

We miss thee, oh! we miss thee, Whichever way we go; The stroke of death that called thee hence Hath filled our hearts with woe.

Farwell, dear Eliza, We bid thee adieu; The memory of thy kindness still Around our hearts is true.

Again we hope to meet thee, When the angels call us o'er; Ah! yes, we hope to meet thee then, On heaven's eternal shore.

RESPONSE.

O husband dear, hush every sigh; Wipe all thy tears away; For I have reached that world on high, Where reigns eternal day.

I've safely passed the billow's roar, Upon life's stormy sea; And here upon the shining shore, I'm waiting now for thee.

PHOENIX, Arizona, Oct. 14, 1884.

CINCINNATI'S RIOTOUS

SPIRIT LOOKS OUT ON ELECTION DAY.

Associate Press Dispatches.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.—It was remarked by Judge Kelly, of Pennsylvania, after canvassing the State, that he had never seen such intense interest manifested in politics since 1840. All reports received up to this hour indicate that this intensity of feeling continues. An enormous vote is being polled; each party is striving to get all their votes, and get them in early. It is understood that Ohio is regarded as the battle ground, and on the issue of to-day will depend the conduct of the next three weeks of the campaign.

The polls are being closely watched. The deputy sheriffs are representing the Democratic party and deputy United States marshals and citizens committees the Republicans. A large number of repeaters have already been arrested by the deputy marshals and they are being guarded in the government buildings. A number of these were brought to a patrol wagon by the police, which was to the excitement of the crowd. There has been considerable shooting in the sixth, eighth, eighteenth and nineteenth wards. In the latter a deputy United States marshal shot a deputy sheriff in the head, causing a severe wound, but not a fatal one. In the eighteenth, the Democratic ward, there is great excitement, because a large number of Republican votes being polled. The citizens of Glendale report that early this morning a large number of Irish voted the Republican ticket while the ticket to be voted in the State is a local and Congressional issue and is not national; the vote will probably reach 800,000 in the aggregate in the State. The candidates are Secretary of State, Judge of the Supreme Court and Board of Public Works. The Democratic candidate for Secretary is the present incumbent, Mr. Mewman; the Republican is General J. S. Robinson, who at present represents Marion district in Congress.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.—The city is feverish with excitement; many arrests have been made at the polls for illegal voting; challenging is carried on to a greater extent than ever before. Slight collisions have taken place in several wards, but the worst so far has been in the sixth ward, where a large number of negroes and Irish vote, and where early this morning one of Pinkerton's detectives was badly beaten by a negro known as Foxy. A report came from the fifteenth ward that the deputy sheriff had overpowered the deputy marshals and were refusing negroes to vote. The U. S. Marshal sent an additional number of deputy marshals to the scene. Men about the polls say very little scratching is done.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.—The report that Fox Anderson was killed in the Sixth Ward is untrue. He had an altercation, but was not seriously hurt. Large crowds gathered at many polling places, and the air is full of rumors of expected outbreaks. The polling of votes continues rapidly, and in many places more than half the total vote was cast before noon. In the U. S. Court room Commissioners Harper and Probasco have already committed twenty-seven men, charged with illegal voting. Shortly before noon A. L. Russell in the 18th ward, who had been flourishing a pistol about in the vicinity of the polls was shot by a colored deputy marshal and died instantly. At noon the poll was proceeding quietly in nearly all the wards.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.—At 2:30 the city continues to be fairly quiet. Nearly one hundred men have been brought before the U. S. Commissioners for illegal voting and sent to jail or released on bond. Habeas corpus proceedings are issued in some instances to get them out of jail. Arrests are also made by the police and deputy sheriffs, and the same course pursued to obtain the release of prisoners who have been released on bail. There has been no general disturbance since the rush at the 18th ward polls, and confidence is growing that the day may pass peacefully. It is evident the vote will be the largest ever cast. Similar reports continue to come from outside points.

SWIFT JUSTICE.

FULTON, Mo., Oct. 14.—As a ten year old girl named Emmet was walking with a younger sister past a corn field near Guthrie, ten miles east of here, yesterday noon, when one of three negroes working in the field seized the child and ravished her. The little sister carried the alarm home, and a posse of citizens was organized immediately. The negroes were found in the field armed with cut-throats and a gun. They made a strong resistance but finally surrendered, and were taken to Guthrie and put under guard. At three o'clock this morning a party of mounted men rode to the house where the negroes were confined and fired at them through the windows. One of the negroes ran into the street and was shot dead. The others were again fired upon and the ravisher fled down and was left for dead. The party then rode off. An investigation showed that the survivors were taken to jail to-day but are expected to be lynched.

VERMONT SENATORS.

MONTEPELIER, Oct. 15.—In balloting for U. S. Senators today, Senator Morrill received for the long term 117 votes; Timothy P. Redfield 56; W. P. Dillingham, scattering 3. The Senate votes at 4 o'clock. Tomorrow noon the vote of the two houses will be ratified.

PRESIDENT CERVIERA DESIGNS.

PANAMA, Oct. 14.—The Legislative Assembly of Panama met on Friday, the 8th instant, at 10 o'clock, President of the State, presented his resignation. Although a revolution is GOING ON, the people in the city do not seem to trouble themselves about it. At Farlow, three miles from here, three hundred men assembled in arms under the command of Ruiz, late pretender to the presidency. As yet they have not molested any one. It is probable that the State Convention will effect an understanding between the opposing parties.

POSTMASTER GENERAL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Mr. Hatton was summoned to the White House and received his appointment as Postmaster General. Proceeding to the postoffice department he took the oath of office, which was administered to him by Laranson, a venerable employee in the office for 42 years, serving under all the postmaster generals, beginning with Postmaster General C. B. Wyckiffe, of Kentucky. The President has appointed Paul Fulton, consul general to Bucharest.

BEAN AND LONG.

The following campaign song was sung by the Republican Glee Club at the recent ratification meeting, and received great applause:

Oh! have you heard the latest news? 'Tis very interesting. Of the coming of a new day, and their own defeat suggesting, they're all broke up, and all broke down. To think the Republican ticket would nominate Bean to run against Head, the head of the Mormon religion.

Vote for Bean and Long, Vote for Bean and Long, Bean and Long will be so strong Upon the election day.

For four long years we've been betrayed By Democratic fraud, And now we've elected a knot on a log, To help our Territory. And now we have a record of which they're proud.

As they clearly show by their actions, In running Head to get your votes, The head of the Mormon faction, Cho. But now we'll sing of our next Delegate, Of Bean and Long, who will be so strong Upon the election day.

He's a long man, with a noble bearing, And has his own opinions. Which can't be said of C. P. Head, The head of the Mormon minions. —G. M. F.
